Participation of Teachers in Decision-Making Bodies

Head of departments, teachers and supporting staff perform an important role in implementing the college vision & mission and take part in the decision-making process. Besides, they are members and coordinators of the various academic, administrative, extension and research activities related committees for smooth functioning. They also look after the various cultural and social activities in the college through NSS, Internal Complaints committees and through other cells and committees.

Decentralization

The effective leadership is visible in various institutional practices in our college and it promotes decentralization & participative management culture. It reflects the policy decision making planning, administration, academics, and other activity management. All stakeholders of the college such as management, members of governing body, members of college development committee, Principal, heads of department, members of IQAC, members of staff council, faculty members, Librarian, Director of physical education, non- teaching and supporting staff, student alumni etc. are involved in the decentralization and participative management of various administrative, academics, co-curricular, research, extension activities for efficient functioning of the college.

The College Development Committee meets regularly 4 times a year to discuss issues related to development of students, faculty and college and neighbourhood community. The college constituted various committees to oversee various academic, curricular, co-curricular, extension & research activities.

Case Study:

The College has a purchase committee that oversees purchase decisions and infrastructure upgrades; it is comprised of management and faculty representatives. The purchasing process is overseen by the Principal, the Purchase Committee. They obtain quotations from the respective vendors during this procedure, which is subsequently completed at the purchase committee meeting.

Lab Incharge → Head of Department → IQAC/CDC → Purchase Committee
→ Quotation Comparison System → Approval → Purchase Order

Participative Management

The culture of participative management is achieved by strategic committees operated by governing bodies such as the CDC, Principal, and IQAC. Stakeholders at all levels have the opportunity to submit creative ideas that will lead to the accomplishment of greatness. Departments and committees collaborate with the IQAC to produce the annual plan with the Principal's approval. The academic calendar is efficiently executed throughout the year through engagement with the principal and other stakeholders.

Perspective Plan:

The institute has well defined perspective plan for major action to be initiated so as to reach goals stated in the Mission & Vision Statement.

- To develop, execute and encourage effective teaching- learning and research process.
- To develop, execute and encourage effective students mentoring and transparency in internal assessment and evaluation process.
- To execute MoU and collaboration with various organizations.
